Armed Forces Day - May 20th

The Historical's Club has planned a "triple-header" in honor of Armed Forces Day. Special scenerios will be hosted:

Saturday, May 20th

10 am Bunker Hill 15mm "AWI"

2 pm Civil War 15mm "Volley & Bayonet"

6 pm WWII 15mm "Flames of War"

We could use some help throughout the day keeping things "rolling along" as they say. If you have some time, let John Royal know and he'll assign your detail. - TP

Who is this GI Jane? Why is she wearing John's helmet?

Bombardier to Pilot

We are now playing B-17, a solo game played as a squadron. Steve Schneider, a long time gamer and all around good guy, has come back to town. Steve has gotten all us "green" pilots off and flying, remember, "flack has no friends". Come join the fun Tuesday May 9th and Tuesday May 23rd. t.

Club members are planning a special league prize, if you survive 25 missions you could win a 1/52 scale B-17. More to come on that. -TP

On the Historical Side

Operation Overlord – 20mm

The thinking man's WWII rules is what we call Operation Overlord. John and Scott continue to come up with unique scenarios.

Italians, Russians, Germans, Hungarians, Zombies (yes, ... Zombies) all get wacked in the name of good fun. -TP

DBA Mania – 15mm

DBA=(DeBellis Antiquitatis)

DBA continues to grow, we saw Scottish chariots for the first time, it's easy to learn, small armies, quick battles! -TP

French Foreign Legion

Look out! John's Foreign Legion continues to grow, great looking figures and always fun!

Flames of War – 15mm

FOW has finally hit GB. These WWII rules are fast and lots of stuff gets blown up! It makes you wonder how they got people into those tanks or to clear out those buildings. Figures are now available at Gnome Games. Tentative schedule is every other Wednesday night at 6pm. Come on down and learn to play. The more the merrier!

Johnny Reb – 15mm

Dale's Civil War gets bigger and bigger. Last week the Rebs took the wheatfield and Gettysburg. I often wonder just how big this is going to get. The price of lead on the NASDAQ has been dropping because of purchases of figures in the Green Bay metro area.

Anyone who has 15mm Civil War figs, please see Dale, he's already searched several area basements in his quest for more lead! -TP

Painting Guild

Club members have been meeting on Wednesday evenings at Gnomes to paint. Need something painted or put together? The troops are glad to help out. Show up with glue and paintbrush and join in, no experience necessary.

Games Workshop

Apparently, we had some bad intelligence that Scott H. was going to start up a Mordheim group...or perhaps they have gone underground? We haven't seen any overt activities this month. -PF

Field Trip Opportunities

With summer coming, it's a great time for painter's guild to see the "real thing". Re-enactors do a fantastic job with costumes and authentic looking props. They are also a "bottomless pit" of information for history buffs. Re-enactors have the same love of history but have a different perspective. Grab your camera and make a friend. -TP
